Moving Moving

The theme of our yearbook is moving ... moving into the eighties with a hope that the inflation/recession/depression talk is mostly talk. Moving means moving up — catching up to the goals just ahead ... becoming 15 and 8 months and getting that coveted "learners." It means becoming a junior and flashing that investment in status and sentimentality, a weighty token of solvency, the class ring.

And in Gloucester moving means moving in. New names and faces are proof that Gloucester is moving from rural to suburban.

But moving also means the restlessness that has become almost an epidemic among us. It is so hard to sit still, hard to put up with the humming lights, the hot classrooms, the distracting echoes off the mustard metal walls, the long days in the hard seats.

Perhaps it means we are ready to move on to the disciplining world of work, to the challenge of college.

Right: The seniors put on a noisy show of strength to keep underclassmen in line.

Sports Unlimited

Something for everyone is the spirit of the popular GHS sports program. Fencing follows girls' gymnastics and coed soccer as an addition to a more diversified opportunity. Football remains the favorite spectator sport but each year sees enthusiasm grow in new directions.

Each Pep Rally is better, brighter and noisier than the before! The cheerleaders perform, the classes outshout one another, the faculty lines the wall laughing and covering their rapidly aging eardrums. The band gives zest and direction to the rollicking racket and the whole lot explodes into partisan pride which carries over to the game, making victory an imperative!

Regional Champs at Last!

"We are Like a Family"

The 1979 season proved to a great one for the girls' field hockey team. The girls played excellently under the leadership of Mrs. Yvonne Smith, the coach.

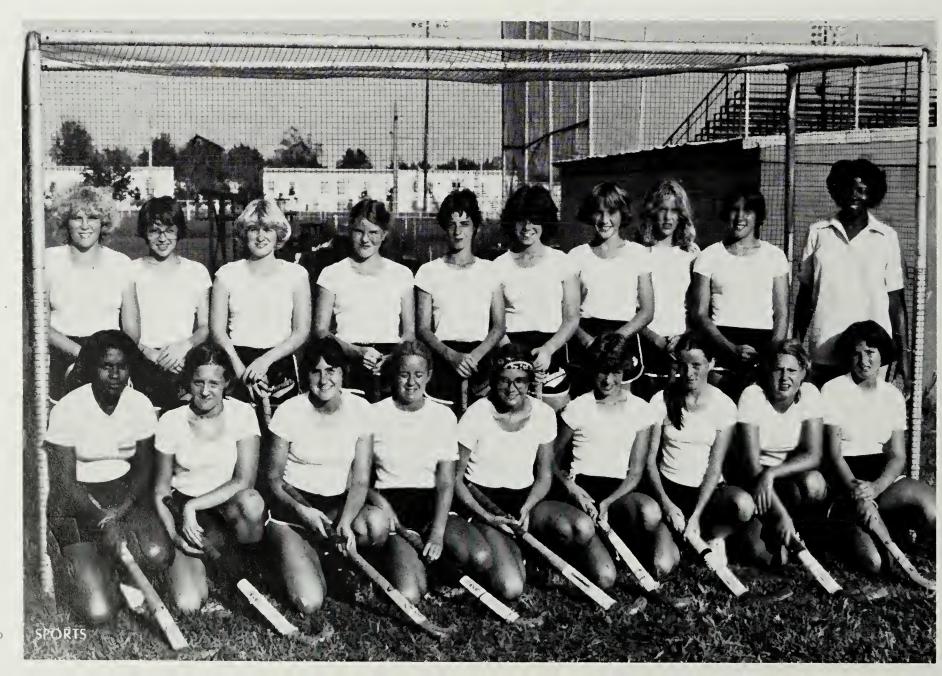

Mrs. Smith was quoted as saying, "This year's hockey team is the best all-around team I've coached and this is my seventh season. We are like a family."

With the determination of winning, the girls played their best and with this determination the girls ended up as district and regionals champions.

Carol Williams, a sophomore set a school record on October 5 in a game against Tabb High School by scoring 7 points.

Senior Co-captain Melissa Sterling concentrates on moving the ball upfield.

Football Moves into High Gear!

The Football team went into the 1979 season looking for the York River District title two years in a row. Although they were co-champions last year they hoped to be on top by themselves this year.

The team knew that York High School would probably be the worthiest district opponent and when these two teams met it would be a game not to be forgotten.

The team got off to a slow start by losing their first two games to John Yeates and James Monroe. After losing the opening two games the Dukes turned it around by winning six straight. The first three victories came from District opponents Pembroke, Bruton and Tabb. The second half of the Dukes' winning streak came from Group A schools Northumberland, Mathews and West

After these six victories the team met York in an intra-District game that would probably decide the District Championship. At the end of the first half there was no score for either team. This half was a strong defensive battle, neither team could generate any offense. When the second half started, York was kicking off. York kicked an onsides kick and they recovered it with good field position. Then they drove the ball down to score, making it 7-0 York. The Dukes finally scored with 27 seconds left to go in the game. We decided to go for two points, and the victory instead of one point and a tie. An incomplete pass made the game end 7-6 York. In the final game of the season the Dukes lost to Poqouson and dropped to third place in the York River District.

Harry Belvin listens as Coach Johnson explains the next defensive play.

On the way to a fumble as half-time approaches.

The Name of the Game...

Coach Todd gives Tony Guylitto the offensive strategy.

Football!

Bounce, Dribble, Shoot — Girls' Basketball

Led by senior captains Cary Zehmer, Marcel Taliaferro, and Pat Stubblefield the girls' Varsity basketball team ended the season with a 6-4 record. The team took third place in the district and fourth place in the "Tip-Off" tournament. This was Coach Brown's first year coaching the varsity squad. The girls received little support from the student body, but the effort of the girls was tremendous.

The Gloucester girls wait as the ball is brought in bounds by Matthews.

CHAMPS at last!

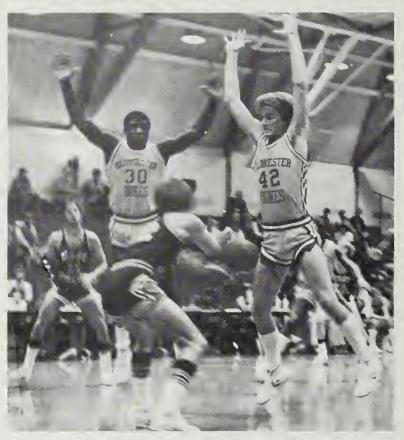

All the fans are standing in the bleachers, while others are looking for seats. We all wait for the Dukes to enter . . .

The Pep Band begins to play and here they are! The Gloucester High School Dukes. Everyone goes wild as the team begins to warmup.

Now, it's time for the game. Vernon Larrimore, center, wins the tip and knocks it to a teammate. They take it down court and wait for Keith Stokes, guard, to set up a scoring play. All our players are well blocked, so Stokes passes it to Jimmy Spencer, forward, who makes one of his incredible jump shots. The other team receives the ball and before they move it down to their goal, Henry Bond, guard, makes another tremendous steal, and passes it to Guy Crittenden, forward, who scores another pair with one of his many layups. The pace is now set for the remainder of the game.

But, this isn't it. Now, Head Coach Ed Holstrom, sees his chance to send in the bomb squad. Kevin Banks, Jerry Hudgins, Kelvin Larrimore, Kevin Meyers, Russell Robinson, Randy Stokes, and Ricky Williams, now plan their strategy. Without these replacements Gloucester wouldn't have been able to make their achievements a team effort.

This was Ed Holstrom's best season leading his team to the Regular Season York River District Championship. The Dukes won ten straight district games, undoubtedly, receiving nothing less than praise from all.

Coaches, Brown and Holstrom watch intently for the beginning of the game.

DUKES DOMINATE

I bet you never thought Henry (Boom) Bond could dunk!?!

Soccer has become a live and kicking thing. Fast and fun to watch, the game is gathering interest throughout the country.

Gymnasts 3rd in Region

The 1979-80 gymnastics team proved to be tough in regional competition this year. The team finished third out of ten teams just one point behind Tabb. Going into the District/Regional meet, their record was 5-5 having come in second in all of their tri-meets. When the pain and worry ended two of Gloucester's gymnasts had placed. Dawn DeBolt placed fifth on the balance beam and Melora Sidney was awarded second on the beam and fourth on uneven bars. The girls showed trememdous effort by practicing four days a week, three hours a day and their hard work paid off. The team has high hopes for next year with the loss of only two seniors.

Through long practices they managed to place fifth in the region, which put them well into the top half. Four wrestlers traveled to Bassett High near Martinsville to compete at the state meet. They were Harry Belvin, Tony Blow, Bobby Brannon, and Tucker Witt. Tony Blow placed sixth in the state and Harry Belvin placed second. The Dukes ended their season with a district record of 3-2.

and the view from the top IS different!

Just as places remembered from childhood seem to shrink as you revisit them, becoming a senior seems to shrink the privileges, the power, the prestige.

To underclassmen, seniors are remote, polite, cohesive, fun. To seniors, seniors are unappreciated and overworked! For some seniors, the center of their lives begins to shift from school to outside-of-school as jobs and paychecks become more important. For others, senior year means the struggle to find the financial and academic fit which will measure the next four years.

Students Teachers Administration

The people who make up the small world of school have a critical balance to maintain. The administration strives to keep this world of over 1300 students and teachers on an even keel so that teachers can teach and students can learn. The teachers try to navigate between the shoals of essential administrative directives and the whirlpools of student apathy. The students alternate between wanting to pilot the boat and wanting to sink it at the pier. Yet, how well the school moves along with patience, progress and prestige.

How 'bout Moving Into GHS?

"calmer . . . less rowdy"
"Administration has no problems here!"
"Students work here? They ease through life!"

Gloucester is the place that many people are moving into. This year we have new students from all over. Aziza Xhema came from Williamsburg where she attended Bruton; Glenn Gootee from York; Michael Gooding from Urbanna; John Guy from Carver in Newport News. Joe Stuart comes from several places, lastly Maine and Tim Coulson from 'over the river.'

Aziza is a senior this year. She said that besides Virginia she has lived in New York and North Carolina, but she likes Gloucester.

Glenn Gootee is a sophomore, a baseball enthusiast who plays on the Gloucester team. He hopes to play football next year.

Junior Michael Gooding has many talents and interests. This year he is involved in the music department's Madrigals.

Below: Rosemary Evans interviews Glenn Gootee to find how we look to other people.

Richard Isner interviews Madame Feild

"La creme de la creme!" This was the description given by Mrs. Bobbie Feild when asked to describe her French students in a recent interview.

Mrs. Feild has taught French for fourteen years at Gloucester High and in her words,

"Each year is better than the last."

Because she is a foreign language teacher, she naturally holds to the opinion that all students should have some exposure to a foreign language. However, when asked if French is the best choice for a student, she quickly replied, "Not necessarily."

"In the United States the most useful for-

"In the United States the most useful foreign language is Spanish. However, French is still widely used in many countries. Travelers would find French to be quite useful," explained Mrs. Feild.

Mrs. Feild does feel that English is rapidly overtaking French as the "language of diplomacy and trade."

Mrs. Feild also mentioned the recent decision to begin registration for the draft. She said that men and women with language experience might be able to land a "plushy" job behind a desk if they are drafted.

Finally, when Mrs. Feild was questioned about the possibility of languages becoming a lost skill, she stated that the study of a foreign language is indeed losing importance in the schools of today.

"We think we're great. We feel that because we are a Super Power, we don't need to bother with learning other languages. This attitude has reduced the number of students studying languages," she said. "However, Gloucester has a growing number of language students, and the skill is not being lost in this school system. This reflects the values of the parents in the community and shows that we are moving in the right direction."

Martin Cox talks to Mark Micklos

Even though he is a hypoglycemiac, and was nearly killed in a bicycle crash two years ago, Mark Micklos is still an interesting and lively person. Mark is a victim of hypoglycemia, or low blood sugar, which means that he cannot eat anything with sugar in it. On top of this, two years ago he was hit by a car while riding his bicycle. Mark laid in a coma for six days, and nearly died. After a long stay in the hospital he finally recovered.

He plans to major in dentistry when he graduates from High School, unless he has to join the Armed Forces.

He favors the draft, and said, "I wouldn't wait to be drafted. I would volunteer for the branch I wanted to serve in. That way I could also pick what I want to do."

When asked about Iran and the fifty Americal hostages, he answered, "I'm not sure what we should do. I'll leave that to President Carter."

He is definite on women being drafted. "If they want equal rights, let them get shot also,"

he says.

Lastly, Mark has strong views on the 1980 Summer Olympics. He said that they should be moved to a neutral location, but that if they can't, then the United States should go anyway.

John Pouchot and Andy Honaker cool down after a tiring race against the York Falcons.

Gloucester's CROSS COUNTRY team consisted of eight team members, five guys and three girls. This is the first time in four years Gloucester High has had girls on the team. Because of lack of membership they have lost all their dual meets, but faired well in district. They sent one team member to state; freshman John Pouchot. The captains were Seniors Eldridge Northstein and Andrew Honaker. The three girls were Nina Carter, Dennie Fyfe, and Sandra Tucker. The rest of the members were David Clifton, Flip Honaker, and John Pouchot. This year's new coach is John Karatsiskis, he is also a new teacher in the school.

When considering the most loyal and spirited members of the school, the Gloucester High Cheerleaders could be given top rank. These girls were at every Pep Rally, football game, basketball game, and wrestling match, as well as several soccer games. The squads worked hard to raise money by sponsoring dances and selling spirit ribbons and buttons throughout football season.

The same cheerleading squads were not kept all year. New squads were picked before basketball season. Each girl was a bundle of pep.

231 of Gloucester teenagers determined their social attitudes on numerous subjects through an eye-opening survey. Those surveyed were split approximately 50-50 between above average and average students with only a small number of below average students. After analyzing all the questionnaires many conclusions were drawn. An interesting one was the fact that peer pressure played a significant role in influencing both boys' and girls' actions. The incidents of drinking beer and alcoholic beverages rises with grade levels, reaching an average of approximately 75% for girls and 85% for boys. Approximately 75% of the students feel Gloucester County is a good place to grow up and spend their teenage years. The graphs demonstrated the opinions of the students in this community, as well as prospects for the future.

A New Club With Class

Fencing is a growing sport, just beginning to grow as a high school sport in Virginia. Fencing is the art of defense with the sword. For the more modern fencer there are three different weapons, sabre, eppe, and foil. The fencing team had two meets against Hampton Roads Academy. The team won but the coach said they needed competitive experience.

"This was our first year. We're looking forward to next year when we have had more experience."

RING

After months of planning, meetings and running around getting supplies, the Junior Class sponsored their Ring Dance on December 8. Dancing to the beat of Wolftrap filled the Commons Area where there wasn't room for another wiggling soul. At 10:00 the long-awaited time finally came! Everything came to a halt as the class officers gave the rings to their respective owners. With the rings in place, the commons was once again filled with dancing, but not as much, since it was now time for the rings to be admired, exclaimed over and turned 81 times!

Deciding on a class ring is a tough decision for Lisa Beck, Valerie Ellis and Eddie Riggan.

Delia Ray, one of the ten people who decorated for the dance, tries her best to finish in time.

Eddie Riggan is still not sure about which ring he should order.

DANCE ... a special thing ...

Tom Carter and the back of his date, Stacie Rohrbach nibble away at the refreshment table. Did they really go out to eat before the dance?!?

Billy Fletcher was seen most of the time on the ladder putting up decorations for the dance.

Angie Johnson and Brenda Jessen tried their best to keep the tablecloths down, but it was almost impossible!

Billy Fletcher and Bernie West sit one of the fast songs out.

And the Band Played on . . .

Lower left — The slow songs were enjoyed by many.

Upper right — Get Down!

Lower right — The band played a slow song for everyone to get close and cozy.

The band for the Ring Dance was Wolftrap. They kept the couples moving by playing many fast songs and some romantic slow songs. It was the first time Wolftrap had played here, so everyone was anxious to hear them and see how fast they could get everyone out of their seats and onto the floor.

for a foreign language, a foreign field trip!

A Continental Touch — American Field Service

This was the AFS tenth year at G.H.S. The club sponsored ten foreign exchange students. Our present exchange student Tarek Fayek is from Cairo, Egypt. The AFS had an annual banquet which was sponsored by both the adults and students in the area. During this time, all of the exchange students in the area came to Gloucester. They talked to various classes during school hours, as well as meeting the public during the banquet.

This year, the AFS again sponsored the Mr. G.H.S. pageant to raise funds. The audience enjoyed the "ladies" greatly. The AFS also arranged a week-long exchange with students from Alcoa, Tennessee. In this exchange, 24 students from Alcoa were hosted by Gloucester families and 24 of our students traveled to Alcoa. In the past, Gloucester AFS'ers have gone to Gloucester, Massachusetts and Somer, New York. Through these short exchanges students have been able to see how people and places differ within the U.S. borders.

THE CRUCIBLE

a stunning achievement

Once in a while the stars collide and something happens which makes adjectives unnecessary. This year's play was such an event. To describe the fusion of effort, talent, timing, mood in the cliches common to such descriptions would be to soften its impact. Suffice it to say — this was theatre.

Copy, graphics, pictures, active students, and a great sponsor are the keys to a successful newspaper. Our newspaper staff has all the basic problems of any other club; late articles, deadlines to meet, apathy and all. Even though they have these problems, they deliver a paper each month. Mrs. Gayle Middlebrook, Staff sponsor, inherited a deficit, but the staff went to work and sold enough ads to erase it. This year's paper was more interesting and factual than the former papers. It included sports and student features. The controversy of teachers supplements and letters to the editors lost favor with the administration, but gained points with students and some of the teachers.

The enlightened eighties brought about a change to the G.H.S. newspaper. The staff of few organized a tremendous change because as we know Gloucester is, "behind the times," at times.

The new format won second prize in state competition and, as a result, the sponsor was asked to teach a Virginia High School League Publications workshop. Mike Porter, publications manager, said our paper is one of the best in the state of Virginia. Our staff now exchanges papers with other schools.

Cavalier: the work and the worry must be for love!

From the Editor's Notebook:

For the first time we had a yearbook class, which was composed of 19 students. With these 19 students one would think it would be impossible to miss deadlines. But one is wrong! As a matter of fact we shortchanged all except for the first and the final. That's because we had very little cooperation and very little dedication, which every Yearbook Staff needs a lot of.

However, things changed the morning our yearbook representative told us that it would be impossible to have the yearbook distributed by the time school closed. Not only were we frantic — the faculty fused. But the number "90" that bounced in our little brains is what scared the majority of us.

Gradually we started to work harder, staying after school long, hard and dreary hours to beat the deadline. We went through a lot of turmoil, such as waiting for the senior pictures, that were promised within three weeks but received a month or so later. Then there was that worry of not knowing if the pictures sent would be faded by the time they reached Dallas, Texas

Although the staff had many upsets their performance was surprisingly successful. This is considering the fact that no one had ever worked on a yearbook before aside from three of the present staff members who attended a Journalism Workshop at William and Mary College.

The Editor thanks all who tried to make this yearbook a success!

MUSIC

builds a bridge from school to community

The chorale music department under the chairmanship of Don Sandridge is a continuing source of training for the young people in the classes, as well as a source of pleasure for those who hear them sing.

One of many guest appearances made by our musicians was their visit to the nutrition site for senior citizens.

Other Accomplishments:

Like many other organizations the yearbook was a beehive of activity—too many queens and an abundance of drones. In spite of shots dissolved, negatives vanished, photographers passed on to greater glory, Editor Terri Redcross and the staff of workers who supported her made up in effort what they may have lacked in numbers. They were helped by a newstaff member, Aziza Xhema and non-staff members Hugh Evans and Martin Cox who developed and printed pictures that saved many a page. THANK YOU.

See You! Old Mill Skating Rink

It's Peek a Boo for Home Ec Child Care

Something new and exciting has been added to the home economics department. As part of a program of learning about child care and development, a nursery school has been opened, 'student-owned — and operated!'

Announced at the County Fair.

Joyce Smith admires the long-necked friend painted on the nursery school wall.

Top: Mrs. Jean King prepares for an "official" party with the help of student Angela Greene. Below: Clown Janet Wilson and Angela welcome their little charges.

Moving between Past and Future

To wind up — or down or whatever, "80" has a round ring to it. It will be an easy date to remember. What will we remember — gas prices or proms, Iran or being York River District champs? To tell the complete story of a school year would take several hundred pages. We tried to include everyone; we apologize to those we may have missed.
